RIOTERS ATTACK CARS AS RESULT OF TROLLEY STRIKE

speaking, telling their opponents with the aid of the company and all present were given a chance to express their views.

Bear Banner into Hall.

About 11:30 a. m. 120 men in uniform marched into the building, coming from Division 3, Union Local 268. They carried a flag, a banner, and a "John Brown" flag. The banner read "Marching into the Union, to the tune of 'John Brown'." The flag was a blue one with white stars and stripes, and the words "John Brown" in white.

Two service cars loaded with men arrived and they started as they marched into the hall. Those on the streets kept the sidewalks clear and made no noise. There were no extra police about.

The union men said the company and detectives among them who were attacking their names. Some of the men from Division 3 who carried the banner were in civilian dress and paid their fares. Officers of the union took their stand at the door and accepted the contributions and membership dues of newcomers during the early part of the evening. More than 200 new members were signed up. Most of the men at the meeting were young but there were also a number of men who were two or three service stripes.

National Union Aids Strike.

The international executive officers have been informed of the situation and have authorized permission to consider the situation a local and quarantining full financial and moral support to any action taken by the Boston union, was stated by the international organizer Fay and P. P. Sheehan of Division 3, international vice president, in his own soliciting tour.

Before the session of the union's committee, there was a conference with a committee of prominent Boston men who have been acting as intermediaries between the union's committee and the road. It was stated by the union's committee that the business men engaged in the effort had not met with any success in securing a conference with the company's officials or any promise of such, but that it had not entirely given up hope of bringing about some kind of settlement.

Pickets were on guard at the entrances to Union Memorial and a smaller hall that had been secured for an overflow meeting and in one was admitted without showing a union card.

The new force of men received instructions.

times at the Hartford street barn and were treated on a car with dummy appliances. The men say they received $2.50 a day with $10 additional for expenses.

Just before the vote to strike was taken, the executive board of the street trolley men's union made the following official statement:

"The treatment accorded the motormen, conductors, guards and brakemen of the elevated railway system by the officials of the company is such that the 2,000 members of the union are all clamoring for immediate action, and they all claim that patience comes to be a strike and the time for radical action is necessary. But it is up to the men to decide."

Arrests in Cambridge.

The Cambridge police arrested four men, three at the Harvard square subway station, and one near the Hemenway garage. At 8 o'clock a detail of officers went to the subway station in response to a call for help from the men in charge of the station. Ten men had attempted to run through the turnstiles without paying their fares. In front of the Hemenway garage a crowd collected and tried to block car traffic. One man was arrested on a charge of cutting a trolley rope.

Chief Keefe of Somerville kept his men on duty today. Sergeant Harmon, with three policemen in an automobile, kept the car routes on the lookout for rioters.

A car held up on the Somerville avenue bridge by a crowd of men. The trolley was pulled off the bridge when the bridge collapsed to replace it, he was seized, stripped of his hat and held by half a dozen men while the motorman took the car on to South square station.

One hundred and fifty persons were taken out of three surface cars at the corner of C street and Union street, Boston, and told that the cars were being taken back to the barns.

The motormen and conductors in charge went out on strike after taking the cars into the city police barns.

Police headquarters was notified that a large number of pickpockets had left New York for this city as a result of the strike on the Boston Elevated. It was stated that they might be expected to begin working on the crowded trains and cars. Every police station received word from headquarters to detail men in plain clothes and in hoarding trains and cars and watching for pickpockets.

MABIE OVERCOME TWICE BY HEAT

LAWRENCE, Kas., June 7.—Hamilton Wright, Major of New York, failed today here at the commencement exercises of Kansas University. He died from heat stroke at the end of the address. After the attack Mr. Mabie was revived and had taken his seat at the speaker's table for the annual dinner, when he was overcome again. As approaching storm and high altitude of the university made the heat in the auditorium almost unbearable.

SEND MILITIA TO STOP CONNECTICUT STRIKE RIOTING

HARTFORD, Ct., June 7.—Governor Baldwin today authorized the use of the State militia to cope with the strike situation at the mills of the Russell Manufacturing Company, Middletown, where 200 newly recruited members of the I. W. O. have struck. There was serious rioting with revolvers shot today. Women composed two-thirds of the strikers. One company of militia was sent.

SIAMESE PRINCE IN GLOUCESTER BLAZE

GLOUCESTER, Mo. 7.—The cottage of Prince Williams, occupied by the Siamese Legation at Gloucester, was destroyed today by fire caused by a defective electric wiring in the building. Prince Williams of the Siamese Legation and the wife of the Siamese Legation were rescued. No property was saved. The value of the property destroyed is estimated to be $250,000.

EXPECTED NO HELP BUT RECEIVED IT

Boston Man Surprised by Rapid Action of Tonic

P. F. Malone, of 48 Lynde St., Boston, has this to say after taking the new Tona Vita, a few weeks:

"I did not expect this medicine to help me, because I have been disappointed so often I have lost faith in everything. I have been sick for about three years—not sick enough to go to bed, only feeling miserable all the time. I was all run down, was nervous, and had no strength left. I was always thinking something terrible was about to happen, and tossed about at night instead of sleeping. I did not feel refreshed in the morning but was tired before I had begun the day."

"I kept reading about this Tona Vita, but thought it was like all the rest and would not try it. One day I read of a man who said that it had done great things for him and he described his case exactly like mine. I decided to try it. I took the medicine and it helped me from the first. I find Tona Vita, all that is claimed for it. It is great. My health is now as good as anybody's."

Imagine that! Who not displicated to learn that there was not four. I have known of many cases where girls have married solely for money, and they practically always end disastrously."

With reference to the Kennard-Manierre case, Mrs. Lee was asked if she thought a man should sever himself from his family after he had married, and replied: "Certainly not. A girl should realize that to a real man his mother is something sacred."

he came to the Roosevelt managers here to avoid a fight.

If the Roosevelt and Taft strength is really combined to prevent a first ballot victory, it is a very real possibility to have a "dark horse" candidate for the nomination. This was the hope of the Roosevelt managers.

Taft Strong in Committee.

The supporters of President Taft continued the National Committee in Chicago. At the time, they had about 200 delegates, including 100 from the Roosevelt managers.

The Roosevelt managers are regular and honorary members of the committee. But they are not from the Roosevelt managers.

$5 — They Fit

Shoes that fit well do not irritate the feet. Most of the foot troubles of summer are the result of ill-fitting shoes.

If you have had trouble in hot weather with your shoes, we invite you to have one of our salesmen fit your feet with a pair of C. & Y. design. The difference will be noticed immediately.

Twice Yearly Clearance Sale of

Hilton Clothes One-Quarter Off!

Every Suit in the House Included in this Sale, even Blacks and Blues

There are thousands of Suits in this sale, but we prefer to emphasize the VALUES rather than the VOLUME. There are scores of models in our natural An-a-ton-a or regular cut, but we prefer to emphasize their INDIVIDUALITY rather than their NUMBER. There are scores of materials, patterns and colors, but we prefer to emphasize the WORKMANSHIP and FINISH rather than the variety of fabrics. There are many different prices, but we prefer to emphasize the PRONOUNCED LOWNESS of these prices rather than the RANGE.

In other words, the COMPELLING FEATURE of this great Twice Yearly Quarter Off Sale is the CHARACTER OF THE MERCHANDISE coupled with the ECONOMY OF THE PRICES. We know whereof we speak when we say that this is the ONE STORE OF ALL, and this the ONE SALE OF ITS KIND, which deserves your preference on the score of distinctive styles and remarkably low prices. Sale begins tomorrow, and embraces every suit of spring and summer in our store, including blacks and blues.

Drink Hires and Let the Sun do its Worst

So good to know there is one drink that will cool and invigorate you without ill effects. So good to know a drink that is made from Nature's recipe—that combines the tonic virtues of herbs and roots and forest saps, give you the most delectable of all summer drinks.

Try it right now. See the nearest Fountain Man, and cool just say "Hires." More cooling than other drinks and more healthful. Not a trace of drugs. Just helps—never harms. No need to say "rootbeer," just say "Hires."

So—sparkling, delicious. At your home, carbonated, in bottles.

RED SOX TRIO WIN TIGER GAME

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—The Red Sox turned the tables on the Tigers yesterday and won the game in a thrilling contest. The Sox, who had been losing a string of games, came out strong and defeated the Tigers by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a real slugfest, with both teams hitting home runs. The Sox' victory was a much-needed boost to their morale.

RILEY'S COLUMN

THE Red Sox won a game in a way that was a real surprise to many of their fans. They had been losing a string of games, and many of them had given up on the team. But yesterday, they came out strong and defeated the Tigers by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a real slugfest, with both teams hitting home runs. Leach Bares Pitchers' Weakness Tells How to Beat Pittsburghs

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7.—The Pittsburgh Pirates' pitchers have been a real weakness for the team, and this has been the reason for their recent string of losses. The Pirates' manager, Leach, has been forced to use a lot of different pitchers, and none of them have been able to keep the Pirates in the game. This has been a real problem for the team, and it is one that they need to solve if they want to win the league.

PILGRIMS ABOUT DUE TO WIN ONE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—The Philadelphia Pilgrims are about due to win one game. They have been losing a string of games, and many of them have given up on the team. But yesterday, they came out strong and defeated the Pirates by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a real slugfest, with both teams hitting home runs. The Pilgrims' victory was a much-needed boost to their morale.

MAYOR TO PITCH IN GAME OF BASEBALL

BOSTON, Dec. 7.—The Mayor of Boston is going to pitch in a game of baseball. This is a real honor for the Mayor, and it is one that he has been looking forward to for a long time. The game is being played between the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Pilgrims. The Mayor will be pitching for the Red Sox.

Hunting a Husband

NO. 8—THE WIDOW GOES DRIVING WITH HER YOUTHFUL SUITOR AND MAKES A DISTRESSING DISCOVERY

By Virginia Terhure Van de Water

THE widow went out for a drive today with her youthful suitor, and made a distressing discovery. She had been told that the young man was a good fellow, but she had not known him long enough to be sure. She had been told that he was a good fellow, but she had not known him long enough to be sure. She had been told that he was a good fellow, but she had not known him long enough to be sure.

Don'ts for the Baking Girl

Don't bob up and down while clinging to a rope. This is weakening and the cause of many fatalities. Always wet the head. This keeps the body at an even temperature. If you know how to swim, practice relaxing, and you will not tire so easily.

Exercise your arms on land, in your home, to give you increased strength for swimming.

Don't stay in the water after you get chilly. It's time to go in when "gooseflesh" appears.

More Big Work for the Women of America

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

MORE big work for the Women of America! Here is their latest effort, along the beautiful Highway that leads to Peace.

No woman had anything to do with the colonial work of planning or making the Panama Canal.

It is gratifying to think it was, like all such great achievements, a wholly masculine undertaking. The great discoverers, the great explorers, the builders, the architects, the inventors—have all been men.

The beautifiers and decorators of life should be women.

So it is right and appropriate that women should send forth this appeal to the women of the United States:

"The time is ripe for the women of America to take some concerted action for peace. The terrible results of war fall heavily upon women. They are the great sufferers. No true mother desires to bear and rear sons for the horrors of the battlefield."

Two Great Apostles of Peace Come to the United States

"Recently two great apostles of peace—Count Apponyi, of Hungary, and Baron de Constant, of France, have come across the Atlantic, bearing the same message—to urge the United States government to take the initiative in securing permanent international concord and peace."

"Count Apponyi said in one of his addresses: 'When you settled in this country you left behind you all the traditions of the Old World which were burdensome. Its animosities, its antagonisms, its hatreds you carried not with you. This fortunate situation lays a great responsibility upon you. We appeal to you for assistance to do away with this hateful legacy of hatred between men who fought to be brethren. This is the object of my mission to America.'"

Although our land does not live up to its highest ideal of liberty, it is doing more toward making the attempt than any other land on earth.

Every time a thought of liberty enters a brain it registers just that amount of mental energy in the right direction.

Every time a thought of war enters a mind just so much energy goes in the wrong direction.

Fortes are out of date; they keep the idea of war in mind, but in this age of airships they afford no protection whatever.

Why not sweep them away and use the precious land on which they are built for more useful purposes?

A colossal statue of peace would be an exciting and uplifting thing for the throng to hold in mind as they pass through the Panama Canal.

It would not bring universal peace to the world the day it was placed there. But it would aid the world to think of peace.

Madame Caroline Severance, the mother of clubs in America, is a fitting representative of this idea.

All Hail to Statue of Peace at Entrance of Panama Canal

She is past the ninety year mark and brilliant of mind and magnetic of personality still.

She has witnessed wonderful changes in the world since she first came on the scene of action. When she instituted a club she was regarded as an unsexed creature, and it required great courage to go on with her ideal.

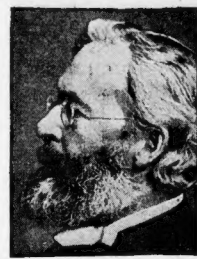

All hail to this latest and best ideal, the statue of peace, to be placed in the entrance of the Panama Canal.

Our wonderful "Liberty" in New York Harbor is an inspiration to every one who enters that port.

Civilization in Man Is Not Lasting
—AND—
Our Reversion to Former Types

Written for the American by
Dr. C. H. Parkhurst

THIS is the time of the year when a good many people are leaving home, or, it had better be said, are leaving the place where they are accustomed to stay, for here in the city there is not very much of the home idea left, and what we call home is for the most part simply the part of the town where we sleep, where we take our meals and where we keep our trunks preparatory to going into the country or going abroad.

And even those who are so circumstanced as to be unable to absent themselves for any considerable time, stay away as long as they can and do not return till they have to.

It may be Paris, it may be Revere Beach, we remain where we belong as long as the time as we can.

By constitution, we are all tramps. Even people who have elegant homes to live in and comfortable beds to sleep on will look their doors, forsake their beds and go rushing out into the woods for the fun of camping out.

It is a reversion to the original mode of living when our ancestors roamed through the forests and dwelt in tents, huts and caves. It is difficult to live down the impulse that have descended to us from the habits of centuries ago.

The original savage keeps creeping out of us. We are constantly on the verge of becoming wild men of the woods again.

A few centuries of civilization have hard work battling against the hundreds of thousands of years that our race lived through before it struck civilization.

It takes old momentum a long time to wear out. It requires constant struggle to keep from dropping back into the hole that mankind has crawled out of and that it is homelike to fall back into again.

It is the same with man as with brute beasts. I met on the cars the other day a man who had along with him a Siberian dog. The animal was gentle and could be safely played with by a little child, "but," said the gentleman, "there are spots of wolf in him, and were I to let him run wild in the woods for six months all the savagery belonging to his ancestry would break out in him, and he would have to be shot or caged."

In man or beast civilization is not a permanent quality. It is against nature and becomes extinct unless constantly renewed.

We are kept respectable by restraints.

It is for that reason that going off in the summer and breaking loose from our accustomed surroundings involves an amount of risk.

We are likely not to come back in as good moral trim as we were in when we went away. There is a sense of wild liberty experienced by any man when he feels that he is looked upon by people that do not know him.

Like bricks in a wall we are held in position in part by the human bricks that we are wedged in between. It is unpleasant to fall below the expectations that others have concerning us, and those to whom we are total strangers have no expectations regarding us one way or the other.

They will not be surprised therefore if we behave well, nor any more will they be surprised if we behave badly. People who are good Christians when living among Christians easily turn robbers when let loose among people of the other kind.

It is true to crowd, that "once a saint always a saint," but it does not always seem quite true to fact. Clamp a steel spring and it will retain its enforced shape so long as the clamp is on, but remove the clamp and it will fly back to the form that it was in originally; even after a thousand years it will fly back.

There is a great deal of efficacy therefore in clamps. Going away from home and from usual surroundings and people is therefore dangerous; for it means removing some of the clamps.

Much of what we commonly suppose to be our virtue is simply the unnatural and enforced shape in which we are held by external pressure. There has recently been published the story of a person who had been dead for five minutes, but who was resuscitated by mechanical pulsation.

That shows what forces operating from without will do for the body. They will do somewhat the same thing for the inward man and create in him a condition of artificial goodness.

That does not mean that goodness is altogether a matter of artifice, but only that goodness at its best is more or less inborn, and is much more dependable when existing in circumstances that are of a kind to encourage it and to keep it in good spirits.

Shirtwaist Days

By CHESTER FIRKINS

WHETHER pink or white or blue. Whether prim or peacock.

Here's a welcome unto you, Pretty waist! Of all Summer comes best, You're the brightest and the best; Every Womanly clothing past You've effaced.

Oh, but aren't we glad to be From those "ladies' suits" set free. And the ugly, crochety Yoke cast! As the May-time flowers save Country glades from Winter's grave, So you give the city pava Summer's note.

Trim and dainty, tried and true, You are democratic, too; For the Many, like the Few, Hail your fame.

At her factory machine Sadie wears you; Fashion's queen In her gleaming limousine Does the same.

Welcome, little Summer Waist! Though you're not you're not straight leaved, Let such pedantry be placed Out of view.

Chic and charming, new and neat, What has Earth's half so sweet— Save the girls, who bless the street.

WEARING YOU?

Out of the Governor's Own Mouth We Have the Solemn Declaration That the Coming of the Grand Trunk Would Promote That Very Control of the Present Railroad Monopoly for Which He Is Apparently Fighting So Gallantly

THE AMERICAN learns that there is considerable apprehension among business men and the general public concerning the reports that are daily made with respect to the bill permitting the Grand Trunk Railroad to enter Boston.

Rumor has it that the Governor in private conversation includes the Grand Trunk bill in his threat that he will veto any measure increasing the powers of any existing railroad unless the Legislature also creates a commission with sufficient powers to control the railroads and street railways, and to compel them to give good service.

But whatever may be the nature of these reports and rumors the AMERICAN feels confident that the fears for the Grand Trunk are groundless, for two reasons:

THE GOVERNOR WILL NOT VETO THE GRAND TRUNK BILL AND THE LEGISLATURE WILL PASS IT OVER HIS VETO, IF HE DOES.

Assuming the Governor's good faith, which we are bound to assume, there cannot be the least ground of disquietude concerning his action. He has definitely and publicly taken the position that he will not consent to any increase in the powers of the existing railroads unless there is obtained greater control of them. That control he now suggests should take the form of a more powerful railroad commission. But it is MORE CONTROL which he is seeking, and he has shown that he welcomes any increase in that control of the present railroad monopoly in whatever form it comes. This is clear from his message to the Legislature of April 24, in which he said:

However much one may be inclined to believe in the consolidation of our local railroads, he must have a feeling that an independent through line would be an excellent correction of monopolistic tendencies. The Grand Trunk is seeking an entrance into Boston and the existing railroads apparently recognize the futility of further opposition. At the same time the existing railroads recognize that the entrance of the Grand Trunk will compel on their part the improvement of the existing service.

We are, indeed, singularly fortunate in having the Grand Trunk COMING IN TO SUPPLEMENT OUR SYSTEM OF STATE CONTROL OVER A LOCAL MONOPOLY, WITH THE ADDITIONAL REGULATION OF REAL COMPETITION IN THROUGH BUSINESS.

Thus, out of the Governor's mouth we have the solemn declaration that the coming of the Grand Trunk would promote that very control of the present railroad monopoly for which he is apparently fighting so gallantly.

The Governor is right. The coming of the Grand Trunk will be "AN EXCELLENT CORRECTIVE OF MONOPOLISTIC TENDENCIES." Again the Governor is right; the existing railroads do recognize "THAT THE ENTRANCE OF THE GRAND TRUNK WILL COMPEL ON THEIR PART THE IMPROVEMENT OF EXISTING SERVICE."

New England is, as the Governor well says, "singularly fortunate in having the Grand Trunk coming to supplement our system of STATE CONTROL OVER A LOCAL MONOPOLY WITH THE ADDITIONAL REGULATION OF REAL COMPETITION IN THROUGH BUSINESS."

Indeed, competition is the natural, the automatic, the most effective and the only certain regulation of these railroads. It is a far more certain regulation and will give far greater assurance of improvement in railroad service than even the powerful Public Utilities Commission that the Governor first demanded, which might be, as the Railroad Commission has been, packed by the very railroads that it was intended to regulate.

Too clearly the existing railroads recognize that competition will "COMPEL ON THEIR PART THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE EXISTING SERVICE." It is the law of nature, so effective and certain that the great economists have called it the "LIFE OF TRADE," and the great statesmen from the days of Queen Elizabeth have passed laws against attacks upon it by monopolies and the great judges have made complicity against it crimes at common law.

If the Governor should be sought to prevent the coming of the regulation and control of the present railroad monopoly by the competition of the Grand Trunk, he would make it clear that his whole fight for greater railroad regulation and control was a tremendous farce and his recent controversy with Vice-President Byrnes a piece of vulgar horse-play.

These reports are circulated by the Governor's enemies. His friends do not believe them.
